We can be tempted to imagine that the need for re-evangelisation and groups that are explicitly consecrated to this are new features of the Church de nos jours. In this first article of a new series, examining the contribution the new movements in the Church are making to the universal work of catechesis, Deacon Tony Schmitz presents for us the Foyers of Charity and the founder of the Foyers, Marthe Robin. Her own experience and the way she welcomed those who came to see her testify to the grandeur and the dignity of each human being, whatever their life consists of, whatever their weaknesses and limitations. This has not always been the case with some of her Anglophone devotees. CharityImpliesMeta-Charity.In prayer the Lord led Martha to understand that all humanity was called to rebirth and renewal.
